

April 2011

Children of three City of Milwaukee Health Department employees honored for their creative drawings on safety

Congratulations to Hailey Litwaitis, Nicole Wicker and Breanna Hults, winners of the City of Milwaukee Health Department's National Public Health Week poster drawing contest. The winners were announced by Commissioner of Health Bevan K. Baker as a part of the city's National Public Health Week activities. The week celebrates advancements in public health, and brings awareness to issues that will help improve the health of the nation.

This year's theme, Safety is No Accident: Live Injury-Free, encourages prevention to stop injuries and violence before they happen.

Posters were judged by three representatives of the Health Department's Public Health Week planning committee and according to the following criteria:

- a) Expression of the annual theme
- b) Originality
- c) Artistic merit and creativity
- d) Neatness and visual appeal

All drawings from the contest can be viewed at the National Public Health Week display inside of the City Hall rotunda until Monday, April 11. (Please see below and the following page for photos of the winning artwork.)
